INDIANAPOLIS – St. Joseph County lawmakers have been selected to serve on a series of interim study committees for the Indiana General Assembly, according to an announcement today by Indiana House Democrat Leader B. Patrick Bauer (D-South Bend).

"These study committees do much of the background work on the subjects that will form the backbone of the 2007 session of the Legislature," Bauer noted. "In making these selections, I want to take full advantage of the diverse areas of expertise that these fine people bring to the General Assembly. I believe they will use these appointments to advance proposals that will benefit many people across Indiana."
